Hello Evan,

In reading your email, I understood that rent price is the issue.

I'd like to further advise you that I spoke with RTB today and they provided guidance on applications to reduction of service, and they concluded that forms 9 and 8 are not required for our project.

The renovation will be scheduled as planned, and I will be sending you official notice of entry as soon as possible.

The rent price for your apartment will be increased as planned and per our agreement. RTB approved this increase. We can discuss early termination of lease if the rent increase does not meet your expectations.

Meanwhile, our offer for one-time rent discount for January is still standing. In addition, I was able to get approval from the management to provide you with a free place for Days 1-3. It would be one of our short term rentals if you accept.

I think it's a generous offer and shows that your landlord cares about your comfort while also improving apartment features without additional rent increases.

Sincerely,

Dasha Dorofeeva

Greetings,

I appreciate your offers but I'm concerned that legislative protocols have not been followed as in Section 13 Rent Regulation and Sub-Section 13.14 Withdrawal/Reduction of a Service.

The RTB has not received Form 9 (Application to Fix Value of Permanent Reduction or Withdrawal of Service) from Thorwin Properties and I have not received Form 8 (Notice to Tenant – Permanent Reduction or Withdrawal of Service (Other than a tenant services reduction or withdrawal)).

I hold evidence that both storage unit and laundry services were provided to me by Winpark Dorchester in my initial lease agreement and Thorwin Properties has confirmed to me that these services were grandfathered into my lease agreement.

I've been a tenant at 585 Corydon Ave for 11 years since May 2012 when I paid $625. This price included the storage unit and laundry services. There have been no renovations or services that have improved my quality of life or brought greater value or benefit to this tenant. If the rent increases followed the rent guidelines then the monthly rent in 2023 would be $725.17, a fair price for value.

I understand that Thorwin Properties is keen to begin their renovations but non-compliance with legislative protocol is a serious issue with serious consequences.

If Thorwin Properties would like to keep me as a tenant and continue its plan for further renovations then it should open itself to good faith negotiation with me for a conditional rent discount that will reduce the rent to fair levels and then we can discuss renovations that replace the services withdrawn.

Thank you for your time,
Evan Rosner

Hi Evan,

I contacted RTB today. They don't offer to contact resident on behalf of Landlord. Is there anything else that we can do to convince you that this renovation will improve your quality of life in the apartment? I think we can further increase rent discount for January rent? We could already start looking for a wardrobe to put into your apartment as well.

Greetings,

Email correspondence is preferred.

I do not agree with your claim and would like to see the documentation that supports your claim.

Are you speaking on behalf of the policies of the now defunct Winpark Dorchester who was the landlord previous to Myplace reality?

Thank you,

Evan

Hello Evan,

I'm planning to call you this afternoon, but please feel free to contact me as well to discuss any questions you may have about the renovations.

Please rest assured that our renovations do not violate tenant rights, and our plans will not result in withdrawal of services. Every apartment will have in-suite laundry thus it's an upgrade to laundry service and not elimination. Storage is not a service in the building. The space was never advertised as facility, and it was used by residents at their own risk and did not cost anything for a long time as a courtesy of landlord.

In-suite storage: we made you an offer: After the renovations, we will determine how many square feet of storage space was lost and discuss any reasonable options for replacement.

Good morning,

I'm in the process of reviewing the logistics required for these renovations and I have some questions but I've recently confirmed that I'm COVID+ as of today and despite up to date vaccinations and boosters I am quite ill. I'm hoping that the symptoms are less severe over the next few days and I can get back to you in more detail. It would be prudent to push back the renovations for at least a week to ensure that the workers do not contract the virus from me and my environment.

I would appreciate that you provide me with a week for which to receive the notice of entry document.

Thank you,

Evan

Hi Evan,

We received proposed dates for laundry renovations in unit #10: January 22 – February 2, 2024. We plan to deliver Notice of entry on Monday January 8th.

I am writing to discuss further your concerns about quality of living during renovations and reduced storage space. Its my hope that we can reach an agreement for compensation and receive your approval for entry. Please review our offer below and respond with your decision as soon as possible.

We'd like to propose a discount for January rent in the amount of $187.00 to compensate for affecting your quality of living on Day 1-8. After the renovations, we will determine how many square feet of storage space was lost and discuss any reasonable options. Please be advised that for the duration of work, we put aside a vacant unit #3, and it is available to you 24/7 for any of your needs. You can reach your resident manager for keys.

Daily breakdown of work:

Laundry machines will be installed inside hallway closet next to bedroom. It will be made deeper, and it will extend slightly inside bedroom closet.

We will need access to the bedroom, hallway, and washroom consistently throughout renovation: we will open hallway floor and connect machines to washroom plumbing.

Tenant will be required to remove all items from bedroom closet and washroom floors.

Please take steps to protect your personal things inside apartment from construction dust. We recommend covering furniture. There will be a few water shutdowns for a short period of time.

Day 1: Make hallway closet larger into bedroom side of closet. Open floor and prep for plumbing installation. Build bulkhead in bedroom to cover exhaust vent temporary; cover floors so it is safe for the night.

Day 2: Remove toilet and finish opening floors for plumber.
Electrical rough in to closet, temporary cover floors back up for the night. Toilet will remain off.

Day 3: Fix floors and install vinyl plank in hallway and bathroom.
Reinstall toilet; Drywall new walls and first coat of tape.

Day 4: Finish any left-over flooring, install baseboards in hallway, mud, and tape new drywall.

Day 5: Mud and tape new drywall, finish up remaining work to prep for paint.

Day 6: Paint

Day 7: Paint/ finish up baseboards install laundry machines.

Day 8: Miscellaneous repairs and cleaning.

Hello,

Please do not begin any operation until I have conferred with the Residential Tenancies Branch and follow their process for arbitration.

The proposed actions of Thorwin Properties are unwanted, unethical, and I will escalate our dispute in order to identify and preserve my rights as legislated in the Residential Tenancies Act.

What is the location of the apartment that you have suggested?

What is your proposed timeline for renovations?

Please list ALL of the renovations that you have planned for this suite.

I appreciate your time and your services.

All the best,

Greetings,

I hope you're doing well.

Last Friday Thorwin agents came to my suite to identify a solution for the upcoming removal of laundry services and storage facilities with the goal of installing en suite laundry machines.

It has been 129 days since my previous email to you regarding this issue and I have not received any clarity on what your plan is.

The electrical system in my suite is from the 1950s, there is no storage space for a washer/dryer in the suite, and if there were some space with which to place the units it would require opening up the floor boards and extending the pipes.

My understanding is that Thorwin has full intention of removing the storage and laundry services, which I have paid for in my entire residency here, forcing a renovation on me that will negatively affect my quality of living through the day to day work, reducing my storage space capabilities, and of course, increasing the rent far above what it should be if provincial guidelines were followed in good faith.

I want to be clear that I do not want en suite laundry services and I do not want my storage space removed.

I look forward to hearing your solutions.

Thank you,

Evan Rosner

Keeping in mind that I have been a long term resident in good standing I would appreciate some consideration in this matter.
